KINGS OWNERS

On May 14, 1982 the Kings local ownership of nine years was restructured. Three of the original 10 partners (all Kansas Citians) remained: Leon Karosen, H. Paul Rosenberg, and Robert Margolin. On August 24, 1982 the Board of Governors of the National Basketball Association approved by unanimous vote the addition of three New York businessmen to the ownership group. They are: B. Gerald Cantor, New York City; Irwin Feiner, Hewlett Bay Park, Long Island, N.Y., and Al A. Steinberg, Rockville Centre, New York.

Karosen is chairman of the board, Rosenberg is managing partner and NBA governor, and Margolin is vice-president and general counsel.

JOE AXELSON

PRESIDENT AND
GENERAL MANAGER

"Play it Again" Joe...

Fill the arena with an average 10,789 fans per game. Put a NBA Midwest Division Championship team on the floor. You did it during your first rein as president and general manager of the Kansas City Kings.

On April 30, 1982, Joseph A. Axelson was again named president and general manager of the Kansas City Kings. From that moment on he has been setting the scene for the Kings success — "to play it again."

The move to bring Axelson back to Kansas City was an effort to reinstall stability and credibility in the Kings organization. Anyone who knows basketball and Kansas City knows Joe Axelson is a name they can associate with both. He is a man that means business; a man that means success. (If there is anyone who can change the course of the Kings, he is certainly that man.)

Axelson's first 10-year stint as president and general manager of the Kings was 1969-1979. Three years were in Cincinnati before his instrumental efforts brought the franchise to Kansas City. He stepped down in July 1979 to become the National Basketball Association's Vice-President of Operations.

Axelson's success certainly isn't limited entirely to the NBA ranks. Before joining the Kings in 1969 he worked with the athletic departments at Furman University and Georgia Southern College, served two years as tournament director of the Bowling Proprietors Association of America in Chicago, and spent seven years with the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) in Kansas City as assistant executive secretary. He is listed in "Who's Who in America" and "Who's Who in the World" (Joe Axelson is a man who knows what's what.)

NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien stated in a release announcing Axelson's departure that, "The Kings are indeed fortunate to have returning as President and General Manager one of the most highly-regarded executives in professional sports. In his three seasons with the league office, Joe Axelson has made an incredible contribution to the NBA.

"Joe will be difficult for us to replace, on a personal as well as professional level, but I am pleased that his efforts and abilities will continue to be devoted to the NBA as he works to ensure the ongoing success of the Kansas City franchise."

Axelson is a man who has a wealth of athletic administrative knowledge. Professional and collegiate, as general manager and league executive, he has seen a lot. He knows success and he plays to win. He's played that way before and it's a sure bet he'll "play it again."

LOWELL "COTTON" FITZSIMMONS

HEAD COACH

Ok, so you've been a head coach in the NBA for 11 years in four different cities, what have you done for me lately?

Well, in 1978-79, the first season in Kansas City, he led the Kings to the Midwest Division championship and was named NBA "coach of the year." Not enough? How about a second straight playoff berth the next year? Or setting a franchise playoff wins record and earning the American Sportscasters Association "Coach of the Year" in 1981? Four years as coach of the Kings and three straight playoff berths for a club that hadn't been in post-season play since 1975. Best of all, despite all the successes in his illustrious career, he's still simply Cotton to everyone who knows him.

A tremendous motivator with a never-say-die attitude he was a pretty fair country player himself. Growing up in Bowling Green, Mo., he went on to become an all-American guard at Hannibal-La Grange Junior College and completed his playing career at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, Texas.

His first coaching job was at Moberly Junior College where his teams captured two national JUCO championships and he was named JUCO "coach of the year" in both 1966 and 1967. Cotton then moved to Kansas State University as an assistant under Tex Winter. In two seasons as head coach, 1968-70, he directed the Wildcats to a 34-20 mark and a Big Eight title, adding another "coach of the year" award to his resume.

The NBA's Phoenix Suns provided the next stint and the 1970-71 was that club's first winning season. The coaching changed to scouting for one year in 1976-77 with the Golden State Warriors, a year that Cotton professes gave him a whole new perspective about the league.

Getting back to the present, Cotton doesn't claim to be a miracle worker, but he was able to turn a 31-51 club into a 48-34 team and the Kansas City Kings' first division championship since the 1951-52 season (Rochester Royals) in his inaugural campaign. Those 48 wins were the second most in a single season in franchise history. In his three seasons at the helm of the Kings he has compiled an impressive 135-111 regular season mark and is 9-14 in three consecutive playoffs, going to the Western Conference finals in 1981.

The fall of 1982 he was inducted into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame in recognition of both his college and professional advances in the state.

FRANK HAMBLÉN

ASSISTANT COACH

A 12-year veteran of pro ball, Frank Hamblen has been with the Kings three and a half seasons. Hired as assistant coach to Larry Staverman on January 8, 1978, Cotton Fitzsimmons named Frank to his permanent assistant in June of that same year. Since he became the assistant coach, the Kings have compiled a (183-190) won-loss record for a .491 percentage.

Frank has held numerous NBA positions. In 1976-77, Hamblen was assistant coach and director of player personnel for the Denver Nuggets and was named to the 1977 all-star squad. He also served as scout for the Nuggets in 1974-75 and as assistant coach to Alex Hannum and director of player personnel for the Denver Rockets in 1972-73. Prior to that, he spent three seasons (1969-72) with the San Diego/Houston Rockets as assistant coach and scout.

Hamblen played basketball for three years at Syracuse University and was team captain his senior year in 1969.

Frank's enthusiastic manner, strong fundamentals and teaching ability make him a great complement to Cotton and a popular individual with the players.

GARY FITZSIMMONS

ASSISTANT COACH and SCOUT

When Gary "The Road Is My Life" Fitzsimmons retires from basketball, he may consider becoming a travel agent. Entering his fifth year as the assistant coach and scout of the Kings, the majority of his time has been spent on planes, in hotel rooms or arranging his travel schedule. Needless to say, Gary has become a wizard at using the official airline guide.

His scouting duties take him to cities around the NBA, the Continental Basketball Association and the college circuit. Gary's scouting ability is evident. Just look at the draft picks in the last four years: Reggie King, Steve Johnson, Kevin Loder, Eddie Johnson, LaSalle Thompson and Brook Steppe.

Gary was offered over 80 scholarships out of high school while he was in Atlanta and selected the University of Nebraska, where he played basketball his freshman year. He then transferred to Southern Illinois in Carbondale and played with the Kings own Joe C. Meriweather and Mike Glenn of the New York Knicks.

After a spring 1978 graduation, Gary began scouting for the Kings and was promoted to the position of assistant coach during the summer of 1979.

During the summer months, Gary keeps busy playing tennis and running. He also enjoys listening to music and the "street life."

BILL JONES

TRAINER

After spending many years on the Kansas City sports scene, Bill Jones, alias "Jonesy" or "Farmer Jones," begins his eleventh season as the Kings trainer. He started his training career in 1961 with the Kansas City A's Baseball Club and remained with the club throughout their move to Oakland in 1968 and initial season there. He moved back to Kansas City in 1970 to become the first trainer of the Kansas City Royals and continued with them for four years before coming to the Kings camp.

Bill was selected the trainer for the West squad in the NBA/Japan all-star tour the summer of 1981. Kings mentor Cotton Fitzsimmons and Phil Ford also made the trip to the Far East.

A busy man on the road and off, he not only keeps the club healthy, but coordinates planes and bus schedules.

Bill earned his physical education degree at the College of the Ozarks following high school in Hackett, Arkansas. He and wife Joyce, have daughters Angela, 22, Connie, 19, and Jennifer 12, as well as a new son Justin Lee born 6/26/82. Aside from new dad duties, keeping busy with the farm, he also enjoyed coaching his daughter Jenny's softball team to another third-place finish in the local league.

Which team holds the NBA record for most wins in a season?

The 1971-72 Los Angeles Lakers hold the NBA mark for most victories in a season, winning 69 times while losing just 13 games.

The NBA record for most consecutive field goals in a game is 18, achieved by the same player twice. Can you name that player?

Wilt Chamberlain holds the NBA mark of 18 consecutive field goals in a game. Wilt first accomplished this feat while wearing a San Francisco Warrior uniform, against the New York Knicks on November 27, 1963. Chamberlain did it again as a Philadelphia 76er, against the Baltimore Bullets on February 24, 1967.

The Kansas City Kings appreciate the cooperation and coverage the club has been afforded and looks forward to its eleventh year of operation in Kansas City. In an effort to receive fair and accurate publicity, we ask you to abide by the following guidelines so that we might run our operation as smoothly as possible.

- Season media passes will be issued to recognized newspapers, magazine, radio or television outlets making reasonable requests on company stationery or letterhead. Please indicate all names of the people representing your organization. It is imperative that season pass holders notify this office of their intentions to cover a game in order to reserve seating at the press table.
- Individual game credentials should be requested a minimum of 30 hours prior to game time (Friday noon for weekend contests). Pre-arranged passes may be picked up at the media tunnel on the northwest corner of Kemper Arena. Absolutely NO passes will be issued on game day.
- Credentials are good for admittance to the arena, media room and on occasion both locker rooms.
- Photo passes will be issued in the same manner as other passes. Weekly papers and magazines on assignment may obtain passes by having the photo editor request a single game credential. It is club policy NOT to allow freelance photography. ALL photographers must have on a red arm band in order to gain floor access.
- The media room is located next to the visitor's locker room on the north side of the arena. There is a room to secure hats, coats, typewriters, etc. In theory and practice, the media room is for working press ONLY and entrance by valid Kings' press pass or NBA pass. It is impossible to accommodate players, family members, friends, guests or others. The professional intent of the room is to provide a meeting and working place for bonafide writers, reporters, broadcasters and game personnel.
- Pre-game press notes, line-ups, etc. will be available in the media room before the game. Play-by-play, quarter stats, flash stats, and haltime final box scores will be delivered directly to the press table and auxiliary press boxes. Complete final boxes and fourth quarter play-by-plays will be available after the game in the media room.
- Telephones for the working media should be ordered through Steve Ireland at 816-275-5124 and ask for a phone in the main media room with an extension on the press table. Reporters are requested to file their stories from the media room at the conclusion of the game.
- A limited number of complimentary tickets for members of the media are available. Requests should be made no later than 48 hours in advance of the game with early requests getting priority. They may be picked up 1½ hours before the game at "will call" window — Gate 1 on the northwest side of the arena.
- Telecopier and relay service is available by contacting the Kings office.

Special requests and additional information can be gained by contacting Julie Fie at the Kings' office (816/421-3131) or at her home (816/561-3221).

1981-82 HAPPENINGS/ACQUISITIONS

April 30, 1981 — The city held an appreciation rally for the Kings on the steps of city hall in downtown Kansas City, Missouri.

May 14, 1981 — The Kings announced an agreement with COMPUTICKET, a computer-based ticket firm, and became the first major league franchise in the city to make such a move.

June 9, 1981 — In less than eight hours the Kings traded or released all-stars Otis Birdsong and Scott Wedman. The club exercised the right of first refusal and matched Birdsong's offer from Cleveland and then traded him to the New Jersey Nets for Cliff Robinson. The Nets also received KC's second round draft pick, the 44th overall.

Later that same day, actually just before trade deadline, the Kings received Cleveland's first round draft pick, the 17th overall, by pledging not to exercise the first refusal right in matching the Cavs offer for the forward.

June 9, 1981 — The Kings drafted the following: FIRST ROUND, Steve Johnson (Oregon St., seventh pick) and Kevin Loder (Alabama State, 17th pick); SECOND ROUND, Eddie Johnson (Illinois, 29th pick); THIRD ROUND, Curtis Berry (Missouri, 58th pick); FOURTH ROUND, Ken Dennard (Duke, 78th pick) and B.B. Davis (Lamar, 82nd pick); FIFTH ROUND, U.S. Reed (Arkansas, 104th pick); SIXTH ROUND, Brian Walker (Purdue, 128th pick); SEVENTH ROUND, Clinton Wheeler (Wm. Paterson, 150th pick); EIGHTH ROUND, Randy Smithson (Wichita State, 174th pick); NINTH ROUND, Mike Perry (Richmond, 196th pick); TENTH ROUND, Mark Wilson (Ft. Hays State, 220th pick).

JUNE 30, 1981 — KCMO Radio signed a one-year agreement to broadcast the Kings in 1981-82. The 50,000 watt AM station will continue to use Neil Funk in the play-by-play position.

July 30, 1981 — Signed six-year veteran forward-center Joe C. Meriweather to a three-year pact.

August 26, 1981 — Acquired former Missouri star Larry Drew in a trade with Detroit, giving up second round draft choices in both 1982 and 1984.

September 11, 1981 — The 29th pick in the draft, Eddie Johnson, signed.

October 1, 1981 — The day before training camp opened, the 17th player overall and second of two first round picks, Kevin Loder, signed a multi-year contract.

October 7, 1981 — Steve Johnson, the seventh overall pick in the draft, signed a multi-year and reported to training camp that evening.

Oct. 25, 1981 — Kings lost 109-104 in the final pre-season game and finished with a 3-5 mark. Eddie Johnson was the leading scorer (14.6) and field goal shooter in the pre-season.

Nov. 6, 1981 — After losing the home opener to San Antonio and the next night in Dallas, the club evened the record at 2-2 after two straight home wins over San Diego and Houston.

Nov. 12, 1981 — Traded 12-year veteran Sam Lacey to the New Jersey Nets for 6-5 forward Mike Woodson and a first round draft pick. The pick will be the better of either Phoenix or Los Angeles in the 1982 draft. New Jersey keeps its own first round pick.

Dec. 8, 1981 — Placed Joe C. Meriweather on the injury list following ligament damage to his left knee suffered in a scrimmage. He is out for the rest of the season. In a related move, KC activated Hawkeye Whitney.

Feb. 5, 1982 — Snapped an eight-game losing streak by beating San Antonio, 109-102 at Kemper Arena, with Cliff Robinson scoring 32 points.

Feb. 10, 1982 — Scored the second largest win of the season with a 125-102 victory over Los Angeles. Larry Drew scored 25 points to pace seven King double-figure scorers.

Feb. 16, 1982 — Acquired Reggie Johnson, a 6-9 forward, from Cleveland in a deal sending Cliff Robinson to the Cavaliers. Also, traded John Lambert to San Antonio for cash and a third round pick in 1984.

Feb. 18, 1982 — Ken Dennard, the final cut last fall, signed through the 1983-84 season. He joins the Kings from the CBA's Montana Golden Nuggets where he was named to that league's first-team all-star squad after he averaged better than 10 points and 10 rebounds. He is the fourth rookie to earn a position on the team.

April 18, 1982 — KC beat Houston, 106-104, and ended the season with a three-game winning streak, the longest of the season. All three wins came at home and included a two-point win over another playoff-bound team, Denver.

April 30, 1982 — Jeff Cohen, Kings General Manager and Executive Vice President, resigned after holding the position 13 months. In a press conference at the Hyatt Regency the club announced the hiring of former Kings General Manager Joe Axelson to a new five-year contract.

May 14, 1982 — The Kings ownership has been restructured so that three of the original partners remain — Leon Karosen, Paul Rosenberg and Bob Margolin. As chairman of the board, Karosen is responsible for the internal ownership affairs of the club, finances and other related matters. Rosenberg will be vice president of the board and will serve as NBA governor and continue to serve as managing director. The title of vice president and secretary was given to Margolin and he will continue as legal counsel as in the past.

A BRIEF FRANCHISE HISTORY

The Kansas City Kings are directly descended from one of the charter teams in the National Basketball Association: Rochester Royals 1949-57 (nine years); Cincinnati Royals 1958-72 (15 years); Kansas City Kings 1973-82 (10 years).

This is the 35th year of consecutive franchise operation, the 11th in Kansas City.

The team moved from Cincinnati to Kansas City in April, 1972. The majority owners were the Jacobs Brothers, a prominent Buffalo, N.Y., concessions family.

Because of a severe shortage of acceptable playing dates in the Municipal Auditorium, it was necessary to play a portion of the home schedule in Omaha. Even though the Kings moved into the Kemper Memorial Arena during the 1975-76 season, this continued through the 1977-78 season. The Kings did not begin playing all their home games in Kemper Arena until the 1980-81 season. The two previous seasons, 1978-79 and 1979-80, the Kings played a total of seven games in the St. Louis Checkerdome. The Kemper Arena roof collapsed on June 4, 1979, forcing the Kings to play 28 games in Municipal Auditorium during the 1979-80 season before the arena was reopened on February 20, 1980.

After the first year in Kansas City, H. Paul Rosenberg, a local lithographer, put together a group of nine other Kansas Citians and purchased the club for an amount in excess of $5 million. The other owners included Frank Armanees, Clay Blair, Ray Evans, Herb Jacobson, Leon Karosen, Robert Margolin, Tom Muir, Truman Sloan and Leonard Strauss.

Former Royals President and General Manager Joe Axelson came with the club from Cincinnati and was retained in the management of the team until he left in the 1979 off-season to take a job with the NBA office as Director of Operations. Former San Antonio Spurs General Manager John Begzos was then hired to replace Axelson and remained in that capacity until October 1980. Rosenberg took over as interim general manager. Jeff Cohen was named to the position in late January 1981 and took over the helm in March, after 16 years with the Boston Celtics. Axelson returned to the Kings in July 1982, following the resignation of Cohen, signing a five-year pact as President and General Manager.

The Kings, behind head coach Cotton Fitzsimmons, advanced to the playoffs for the third consecutive year in 1980-81 with a 40-42 record. The Kings defeated the Portland Trail Blazers 2-1 in the mini-series, then defeated the Phoenix Suns 4-3 in the Western Conference semi-finals. The Suns had defeated the Kings in both previous playoff appearances. The next stop for the Cinderella champions was the Western Conference championship series, where they were matched with the Houston Rockets. Houston, like the Kings, was the only other team in the playoffs with a regular season under .500 (40-42). The Rockets ended the Kings season four games to one.

In May of 1982, the Kings ownership was restructured to include three of the original 10 partners. Leon Karosen was named Chairman of the Board, Paul Rosenberg, Vice-President of the Board and NBA Governor, and Bob Margolin, Vice-President and Secretary.

Ironically when the Rochester Royals won the World Championship in 1951, it was the Western Division runner-up behind the Minneapolis Lakers. Best seasons for the three locations of the franchise are as follows:

Rochester Royals	1949	Western Division Champions	45-15
	1951	Western Division Runner-up
		Playoff Champions	41-27
	1952	Western Division Champions	41-25
Cincinnati Royals	1962	Western Division Runner-up	43-37
	1964	Eastern Division Runner-up	55-25
	1965	Eastern Division Runner-up	48-32
Kansas City Kings	1975	Midwest Division Runner-up	44-38
	1979	Midwest Division Champions	48-34
	1980	Midwest Division Runner-up	47-35
	1981	Midwest Division Runner-up	40-42
